Logistics

SCHEDULE

- Available on our website. A more detailed internal schedule is available on request.

FOOD

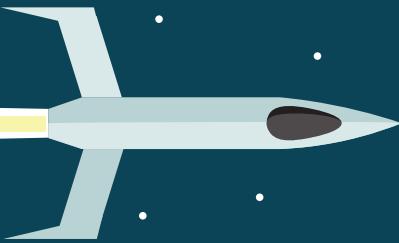

- Breakfast, lunch, dinner, and snacks will be served at various times throughout the day. Sponsors have first priority for meals, but are welcome to eat with hackers as well. Lunch and dinner will be catered/hot meals, while breakfast is serve yourself.

ARRIVING

- Sponsors: Arrive at approximately 9:00AM on Saturday (10/12) to prepare for your booth at the Sponsor Fair. There will be a check-in desk for sponsors in the main lobby of Woollen Gymnasium where one of our volunteers will give you a quick tour of the premises. Please make sure that you bring a photo ID. If you have trouble checking in, send us a message in the #sponsors Slack channel.

MENTORING

- Hackers will request mentors in the #get-help Slack channel. If you see an issue you can help with, start a thread and locate the hackers. This will prevent multiple mentors from trying to set up sessions with the same group(s) of students. Additionally, if any other students have similar questions, this will allow them to combine requests.
- If no one is asking for help in Slack, take the time to wander around and ask hackers about their projects. You'll not only get to see what students are passionate about, you'll also be able to help groups who may feel too shy to post or ask for help normally.

Hackathon Tips for Volunteers and Corporate Sponsors

- Set clear, realistic goals for yourself and your company at the hackathon. For example, a recruiter might define how many resumes they want to collect. If you're there to advertise a product your team produces, you might define "adoption" as "X uses of our team's product." Figure out what you plan to accomplish and how you can make it happen.
- Don't be afraid to ask hackers how their project is going. You'll have some great conversations! You'll also be able to help hackers who feel shy asking for assistance directly.
- Know how to scale your explanations for your audience. You'll be talking to everyone from the first year who just learned how to write a for-loop to the graduating senior with three internships and a published paper. Make sure you can explain your area of expertise to anyone.
- Hackers love useful swag. Want to be the brand everyone remembers? After spending a long day coding, hackers are very grateful for companies giving out free snacks, water bottles, and blankets.

Sponsor Perks

SPONSOR LOUNGE: The sponsor lounge is located on the third floor of Woollen Gymnasium.

Our guide at check-in will provide you with information about how to access the sponsor lounge.

RESUME TOOL: We will send out a separate link to access the resume tool, so stay posted!

SPONSOR FAIR: On Saturday at 11AM we have a scheduled sponsor fair for the event.

This is when most of our hackers will have a chance to come to your booth and interact with your representatives. In other words, we highly recommend that your representatives arrive by 9.30AM so they have ample time to set up.

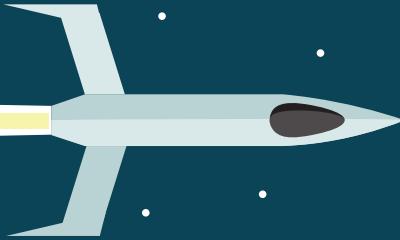

MLH Code of Conduct

As a Major League Hacking (MLH) hackathon, HackNC requires all sponsors, volunteers, and hackers to comply with the MLH Code of Conduct. If you are being harassed, notice that someone else is being harassed, or have any other concerns, please report this behavior immediately to one of the HackNC staff members. Additionally, you may discuss the behavior anonymously with MLH through the general reporting line at 1-409-202-6060 or by email at incidents@mlh.io.

Can't wait to see you there!

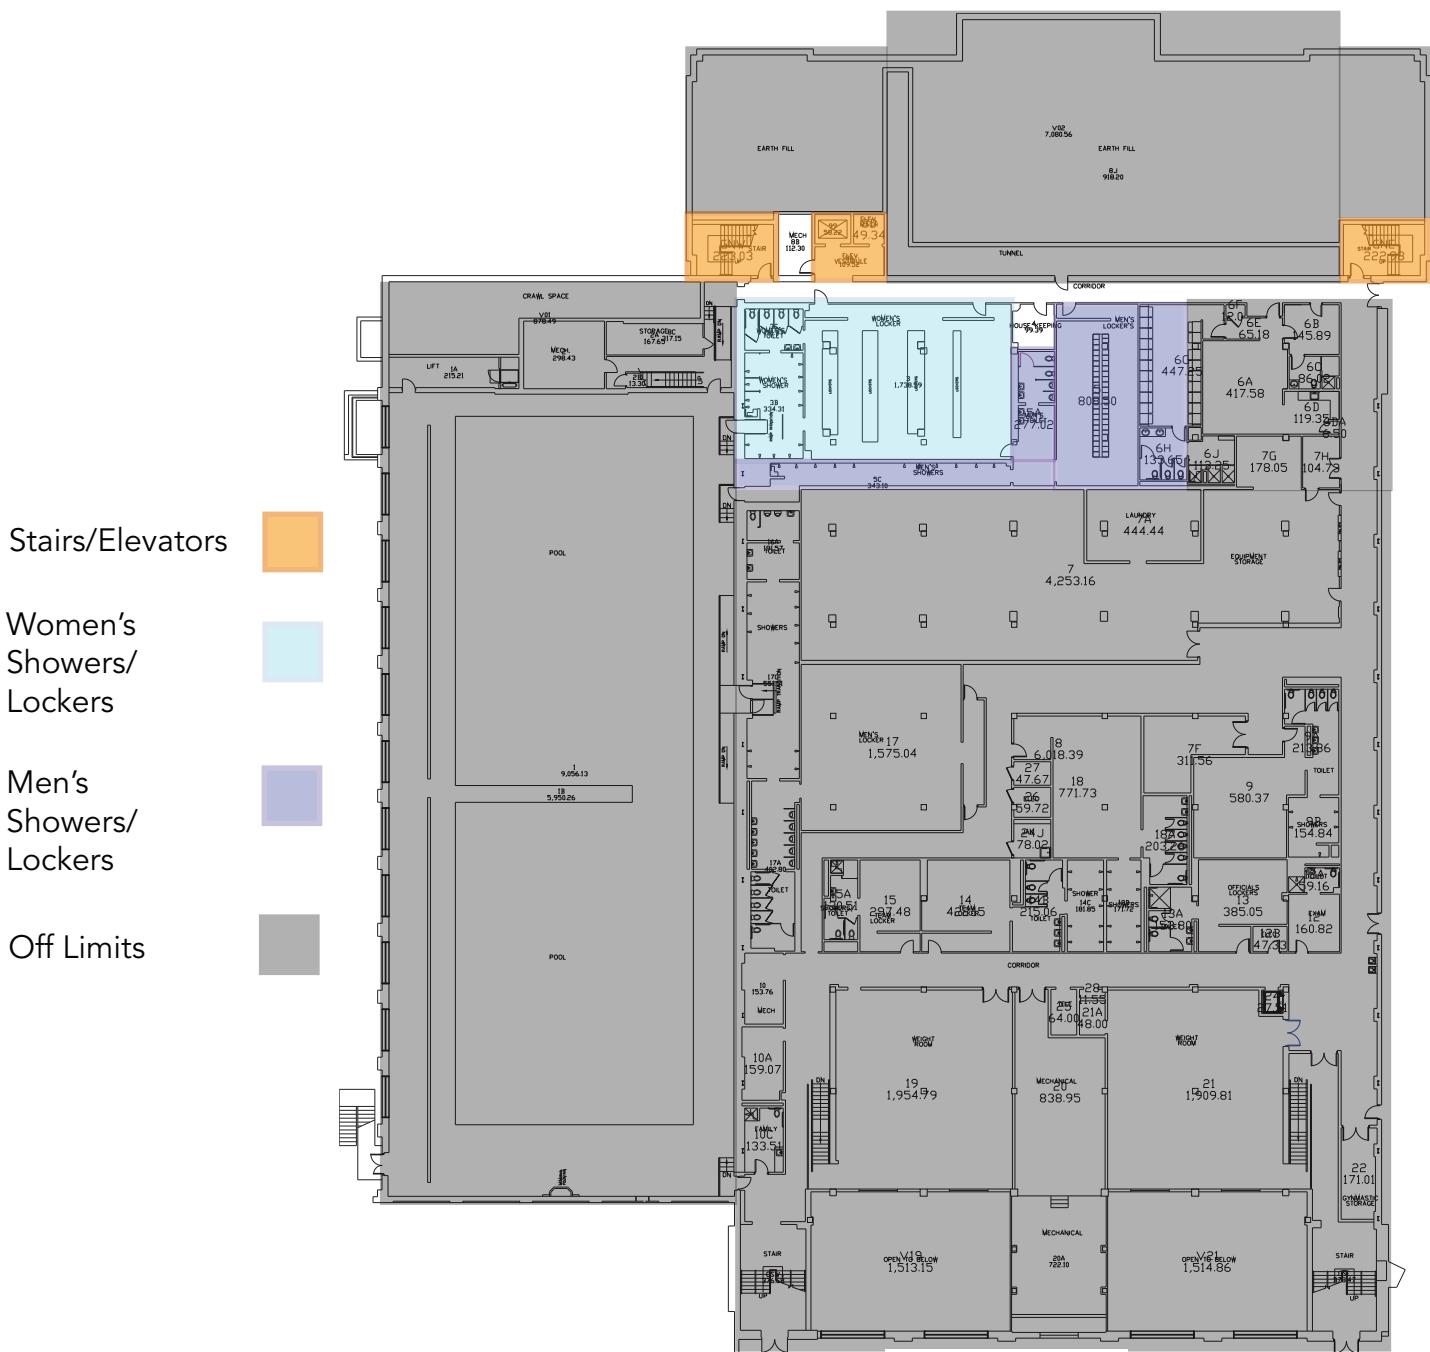

Love,

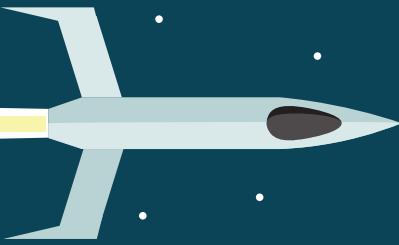

The HackNC 2019 Team
